*I'm Martin Hibbert.
On 22 May 2017 my life changed forever.*

My daughter and I were only 10 metres away from the Manchester Arena bomber. 22 people died. I shielded my daughter from the explosion and suffered 22 shrapnel wounds. A bolt severed my spinal cord and left me paralysed from the waist down.

From the moment I woke up in hospital I have faced increasing challenges.

From recovery to rehabilitation, and then returning home, I have faced mountain after mountain to climb. None of them would have been conquered without the incredible support and guidance of the Spinal Injuries Association (SIA).

I have thought about the many ways I could give back.

I want to help people gain access to the same care and support I have had, this is why I'm taking on Mt. Kilimanjaro.

*This is the moment. This is the time to start a revolution for a better,
more inclusive society for disabled people. I'd love to tell you more.
Thanks so much for your support.*
